Shreveport Airport Authority Now Offers Free High Speed Wireless Internet at Shreveport Regional Airport

On October 1, 2008 the Shreveport Airport Authority will offer free high speed wireless internet service to customers at Shreveport Regional Airport.

The service is free to customers through Comcast and is paid for by the Shreveport Airport to provide another level of customer service at the airport.

"Providing free internet access is one more way Shreveport Regional is enhancing customer service," says Chairman Raymond Alley. "This is a great addition to a recent investment by Samsung to install power poles in each concourse at Shreveport Regional."

A key goal of the Shreveport Airport Authority is to make sure the facilities are easy to use, said Director of Airports Roy H. Miller Jr., A.A.E.

"We believe providing high speed wireless internet service will enhance our customer's ability to check flight status, make hotel accommodations, and conduct business while at the airport is critical in today's business environment.," he said.

The service is available in the main terminal area, cross over bridge, atrium area, and on both concourses.

Accessing the internet is easy:

1. Launch your internet browser and you will be routed to a page that will instruct you to "click to access the internet."
2. Customers will be routed to the Shreveport Airport Authority website where they can check flight status and numerous other opportunities.
